Ben met with the homeowners to discuss the design and to show them the various Allan Block products, shapes, and colors available. Allan Block offers a variety of styles from a classic cut stone look to an Old World appearance. They chose the AB Classic block in an Earth Tan color to complement their homes and attached garage. It is a golden color that will not fade and is designed to age gracefully, keeping its beauty for years to come.

When you have a quality, affordable, beautiful product such as Allan Block, the designs are limited only by your own creativity. Ben worked closely with the homeowners to design the shape of the terraced walls to complement the surrounding architecture and landscape. You should always consider what will fill the space between the walls. Will it be used for planting, seating, or other purposes? The Travitz’s love the finished product, from design, to construction, to the end result. Every time they pull into the driveway they knew they had to do something to improve the appearance. Spruce Up The Front Yard with AB Classic

When Tim and Karen Travitz recently moved into their beautiful new home in Millersburg, PA, they were absolutely thrilled with everything about it with the exception of the big, ugly hill in their front yard. Every time they drove into their driveway they knew they had to do something to improve the appearance.

In Wall Planters and Terraces

But Goldglo, a little more than two weeks to install the handsome 3-tier retaining walls. They started excavating the area from the bottom up, worked their way to the top.

According to Ben Stoltzfus, when you have a quality, affordable, beautiful product such as Allan Block, the designs are limited only by your own creativity. There is a vintage solution for any type of wall the customer is looking for. Allan Block walls are proven to be the finest and fastest walls I’ve ever installed. Aside from aesthetics, there are several other reasons why the Travitz’s wanted to build the retaining walls.

Design the Shape for Beauty and Function

Landscape designs are often more attractive when they include smaller, tiered walls or in-wall planters rather than one large wall. Tiered walls can create more accessible space, build natural gardens, help prevent erosion and add interest to your landscape. The Travitz’s love the final product, from design to construction, to the final result. Every time they pull into the driveway, the Allan Block walls make them home.

In harmony with nature.

The following is from the new Allan Block Landscape Walls Guide and the Floor To Floor Epsod 2013. See your local Allan Black dealer for three materials, or visit allanblock.com to watch the videos from the DVD or download this installation guide.

• Straight walls create a formal, structured look.
• Flowing curves have a more natural feel and create a softer look.

Always Build on Solid Ground

• The most important element in building terraces is soil compaction. Building on poor, uncompacted soil will result in settling of the upper walls. Although lower terraced walls are typically built on solid ground, upper walls are often built on soils that have been disturbed in the construction process. To ensure the stability of these walls, they should be removed down to solid ground and carefully reinstated and compacted.

In-Wall Planter

Ben Stoltzfus, sales manager of Goldglo Landscapes, came to their rescue with Allan Block. They started excavating the hill in the front not only looked unattractive, but it was difficult to move and maintain, and created drainage problems. The hillside, permanently, over Allan Black 3-tiered retaining walls implanted all of these problems and called lots of curb appeal and color with the addition of a variety of plants, flowers and accent lighting.
